

A Dreamer's (Professional) Wish

Have you ever worked somewhere that made you question if you could ever be happy on any other day than payday? Many factors play into a position that's worth waking up and getting dressed for, but let's start with your interests!

What are things you enjoy doing? What are you passionate about?

What are things you are good at? What skills have you developed recently?

What are things you strongly dislike doing? What do you want to avoid?

Research positions that combine the first two rows. If the position involves anything from the third row, skip over the position! You'll be amazed what opportunities are out there that'll be perfect for you!
